

NEGROES ASK EQUAL CHANCES

Business League Enters Plea for the Open Door of Opportunity to Colored People.

RECITES PROGRESS OF THE RACE

Call on More Fortunate Fellow Citizens to Extend Helpful Sympathy to Black Men, in Efforts to Better Their Conditions.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.) Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 3.—A plea for the "open door of opportunity" was made last before the close of the convention of the National Negro Business league, which closed its annual session here Friday.

A series of resolutions was adopted. After reciting the progress the race has made in recent years, the resolution continues:

"We may reasonably be encouraged in the good work we are doing, and to appeal to our more favored and fortunate fellow citizens for helpful sympathy and for the 'open door of opportunity,' without which, as merchant, as skilled artisan, as manual laborer, our efforts will be difficult beyond the measure of other men, if not impossible of ultimate success.

Right to Labor "Divine."

"The right to labor is the right divine. Our right to live is wrapped up in it, and is assured to us by the law of God and by the law of man. The public opinion or the private rule which infringes that right not only menaces our success as business men but throws back upon us a volume of poverty and crime with which we cannot singhanded cope, and which rests upon the character and tone of the communities in which we reside.

"We have our pauper and criminal classes, but we would have the whole the citizenry and the legal profession of the law and public opinion deal with them as other race elements are dealt with.

Wish to Be Judged by Deeds. "We have sensibilities and desires like other men; we have virtues and vices like other men. We ask that we be judged in public opinion and in law as other men are judged. As business men we believe in the supremacy of the law as the surest safeguard of healthy business development and effective industrial effort."

The resolution cites the fact that the balance of trade of the United States is largely due to the exports of cotton and cotton goods, and that much of the labor on this is colored labor. It says:

Law Should Protect. "Negroes should enjoy the fullest protection of the law, while, on the other hand, the criminal element should be dealt with rigidly and impartially."

A resolution was passed denouncing lynching. Booker T. Washington was re-elected president. Other selections were: P. A. Peyton, vice president, New York; E. J. Scott, secretary, Tuskegee, Ala.; Fred R. Moore, national organizer, Brooklyn, N. Y.; G. C. Harris, treasurer, Boston, Mass. The next meeting will be held in New York City.

SYSTEMATIC PICKETING OF THE WHOLE CITY TODAY

President Donnelly Will Not Only Try To Keep Strike Breakers Out But Stop Buying of Meat.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.) Chicago, Sept. 3.—In order to enforce a strict embargo on all meats after five this evening, in accordance with a sweeping order of President Donnelly, the strikers are preparing to send out thousands of pickets. It is understood these will not only attempt to keep strike-breakers from work, but will endeavor to induce the people to refrain from purchasing meats. If the union's plans are carried out Donnelly says the ranks of the strikers will be increased by 27,000. In Chicago twenty-five hundred market butchers will be affected; in New York, 5,000. Another attempt will be made to induce the teamsters to join the strike at a meeting of the teamsters' joint council on Tuesday night.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.) St. Louis, Sept. 3.—A St. Louis and Suburban car of the Meramec Highlands division, carrying about eighty passengers, was hit by a Wabash world's fair shuttle train at one-thirty this afternoon at the Sarah street

SINKING PIERS WITH CLAM-SHELL DREDGE

Mechanism for Lowering the Big Pipes That Are to Support Court Street Bridge, Has Arrived. The "clamshell" dredge to be used in sinking the big iron supports of the Court street bridge to positions arrived yesterday and one of the large tubes was sunk to its permanent resting place before the crew left work last night. Another will doubtless be placed in position today. There are ten of these piers and the work of sinking them with concrete will doubtless take a couple of weeks. The building of the superstructure should proceed rapidly after that, though it is scarcely to be anticipated that the bridge will be finished by October 1, the time stipulated in the contract. The digging machine for the sewer work has also arrived and operations will begin in earnest on Tuesday.

He said that he placed his forehead firmly against the steel door, just above the combination, and then, carefully turning the knob of the lock, he could tell by induction just when the inner parts of the lock were yielding, the last click having an electrical effect.

CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH ARED AUTO

Governor Starts His Speech-Making Using a "Red Devil Wagon" as Means of Conveyance.

Governor La Follette and his "red devil wagon" have opened the political campaign. The governor spoke in Appleton last night. At eight o'clock yesterday morning he and his automobile, his private secretary, Col. John Hannan, and his two sons and official state chauffeur started in to Outagamie county. His first stop was at Dale where the schools were closed and the pupils comprised the greater portion of his audience. From Dale the governor was driven in Assemblyman Koot's carriage to Irontonville, where for an hour he spoke principally upon the railway rate commission bill.

At Hortonville, the governor was met by his automobile party and taken to Shiocton. After a brief talk there the party left for Appleton, arriving there in scant time to open his address at 8:30 o'clock. This is the initial campaign trip the governor is making in his automobile.

About 600 people, consisting in nearly equal proportion of democrats, factionists and women, assembled at the armory there to hear the governor. Long before the close of the address the audience grew restless, and before the conclusion of the two hours' talk many had left the hall. Aside from the jam-packed railroad commission and primary election questions the governor spoke principally upon the senatorial contest in that district. He referred to records of former senatorial representatives from Appleton and urged upon the voters that they scrutinizingly look into the integrity and social standing of the candidate. He then briefly rehearsed his political career, especially such portions as bear upon his efforts in readjustment of taxation, the railway freight rate bill, and the primary election law.

Speaking of his candidacy for reelection in November, in view of the possible action to be taken by the supreme court, the governor said: "Vote regardless of who may be decided as the regular republican candidate. Let me say to you that if you expect to get rid of me in the republican party you are going to be awfully disappointed."

Gov. La Follette closed his speech with an indirect appeal for the nomination to the senate of Assemblyman Root. The governor remained at Appleton until this morning, when he left for Black Creek and other small towns in the northern part of Outagamie county. He will return to Appleton tonight, and will take the train for Madison.

The report comes from the county that the governor's automobile, while speeding between Hortonville and Shiocton yesterday afternoon, frightened a horse driven by two women, causing a serious runaway. No one was injured, but the buggy is said to have been badly damaged.

QUESTION IS: WHO OWNS THOSE THERE RAIN-BARLS

Attorneys Argue an Action of Great Moment in Judge Earle's Court.

Attorney Marshall Richardson for the plaintiff and John Fisher for the defendant engaged in a stirring argument in Judge Earle's court this afternoon in the case of James Lawden of Janesville vs. Martin Anderson of La Prairie. The action is an unusual one and involves the possession of three gilt-edged, No. 1 quality, rain-barrels which the plaintiff secured on a search warrant from the defendant's premises. Thrilling testimony pertaining to the configurations of the bungalows and other peculiarities of these particular barrels, which made them subject to easy identification, was introduced.

JAPANESE ARE RUSHING ALONG

Have Captured the Heights Commanding Railroad Towards Mukden—Corner Russians.

TOTAL NUMBER OF DEAD IS LARGE

Fifty Thousand Is One Estimate Sent Out by Official Reports—Battle of the Century Being Fought.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.) St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—Kurapatkin's dispatch of Friday's date was made public today. He says at night-fall on Thursday the Japanese attacked the Russian position at Sykwan-tun, but were repulsed after a hot fight. They renewed the attack at night with success, driving back the Russians. Toward morning the Russians advanced to take Sykwan-tun. At dawn of Friday they assumed the offensive against Kurapatkin's army. At noon the artillery and infantry were advancing to attack, but during the night the Japanese violently bombarded the interior of the Russian position inside Liaoyang, blowing up the station of the railroad itself. Our losses are insignificant. The Japanese attacked the center fort of Liaoyang but were repulsed with great loss. We had six killed.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—A telegram from the front states the Russians are gradually giving way before Field Marshal Oyama's assault. Kuraki has succeeded after a desperate fight in capturing the eminence overlooking the railroad.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—In the fighting at the Taisho river hundreds of Russians were driven into the swollen stream to drown. Unofficial advices say the losses will reach 55,000, the Russians 30,000 and the Japanese 25,000. The Japanese guns now command the railroad in the rear of the Russian forces.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—The war office has heard nothing official from Kurapatkin for more than twenty-four hours.

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The crucial land battle of the campaign seems a matter of moments. The Russians, under Kurapatkin must fight again; overtaken in the mud by the ends of the long Japanese line under Field Marshal Oyama and General Kuroki. Flames are still sweeping Liaoyang. Millions of dollars' worth of captured Russian stores have been destroyed and the whole city is threatened. The fire was set by Russian stragglers, who hurriedly carrying their lives and paid the penalty with their lives in the final massacre. When the Japanese cavalry swept into Liaoyang the firebombs were put to the sword. Several hundred were beheaded in the streets.

Thrilling Movements of Armies Yesterday saw thrilling, lightning movements of the great forces, and some desperate fighting. Night found Kurapatkin in desperate straits, and dawn of the morrow will witness the commencement of the final, crucial battle. It may mean annihilation of the Russians, a massacre of thousands, or a siege of Mukden. The Japanese generals faithfully followed the announced policy of pursuing and fighting the enemy relentlessly.

Starts for Mukden Desperately and at the sacrifice of several thousand men, Kurapatkin early yesterday set out for Mukden. His path northward seemed open, and the discouraged, defeated, and tired Russians yearned for the protection of city walls and the partial rest from field service that a siege might afford. Great armies have never fought or retreated over slower country than the soggy fields, rice marshes and impassable roads that confronted the Russians. On one side and behind them were the relentless, eager, never-tiring Japs, beating their flanks and rear with a ceaseless fire of musketry and light artillery.

Russians Lose Race In the race through the mud the Russians lost. They abandoned splendid defenses, better ones than those at Liaoyang, in the hope of getting to Mukden. The Japanese, though sans crossing the Taisho river over the same pontoons used by the retreating Russians, and others at the extremities of the line, determined to give the beaten foe not a moment's peace.

Kurapatkin in Trap Field Marshal Oyama, directing the armies of Kuroki, Ohtu, and Nadzu, set in motion a masterful plan to surround Kurapatkin and force a decisive battle. Last night it seemed Kurapatkin had been caught in the trap, and that today or tomorrow would tell the story for either capitulation or annihilation of the main Russian army. Harried, dispirited and fatigued almost to the limit of endurance, the fighting of yesterday was dogged.

Attacks Russian Flank In the pursuit of his general plan to intercept the Russians, Field Marshal Oyama with his own command reached out to Hei-Ying-Tai, fifteen miles northeast of Liaoyang, and with an inferior force attacked the Russian right flank continuously. Meanwhile, Kuroki's left began pressing the Russian right and center toward Tatsiao. Kuroki reached farther north than the furthest lines of Kurapatkin. Strong Japanese forces of cavalry and picked infantry scouts were rushed from the westward to cut the railroad between Liaoyang and Mukden.

London, Sept. 3.—The Japanese legation gives out the official dispatch from Field Marshal Oyama received at Tokio this morning, as follows: "The enemy is in our front and on our left center. The armies continue to retreat to the right bank of the Taisho, except that portion which occupies the defense works from the south to northwest of Liaoyang and the height northeast of Muli Chang. Our armies are continuing to attack on the right side of the river occupied the height west of Hsi Yeng Tai at nine yesterday morning. Sept. 2. Sept. 3. The remainder were routed. The enemy is still offering some resistance outside of Liaoyang. Our center and left armies are attacking."

Tokio, Sept. 3.—It is believed that Field Marshal Oyama has succeeded in crossing the Taisho river this morning with the main body of the Japanese army. The Russians are concentrating in the neighborhood of the Yen Tai coal mines. It is likely the main fight will occur there. The neighborhood is hilly and well adapted to defense.

London, Sept. 3.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg states the greater part of Kurapatkin's army is now across the Taisho. It is reported Kuroki has captured several Russian positions in the direction of the railway to Mukden.

LORD MINTO ESCAPES DEATH IN RAIL WRECK

Governor General of Canada Is Uninjured, Though Five Persons Are Killed and Several Injured.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 3.—Lord Minto, governor general of Canada, was face to face with death Thursday night. With his staff and a party of friends he was on the Imperial Limited train, which was wrecked at Sinitulfa. A switch carelessly had been left open, and the special dashed at full speed into a freight. Several cars proceeding that occupied by Lord Minto were smashed to splinters, but the force of the collision was lost before the impact reached the private coach. Most of the passengers had retired, and the scenes after the wreck occurred were harrowing. Five persons were killed outright and several others injured. Three of the bodies have been identified—those of Mrs. Dissert of Edmonton, Mrs. Warron of Sand Point and Agnes M. Shirley of Ottawa. Among the injured are Mrs. J. Brett, Miss Golden, Miss Murray, Ira Ross and the porter, L. P. Hart. Because of the fact that the latter remains unconscious and that the dead victims are in their night clothes, identification remains impossible.

WISE VOTERS ARE STUDYING MACHINE

And Operating Toy Voting Register on Exhibition in City Hall Corridor.

As it will be necessary during the coming election of November 8 for all old timers—and that includes everybody—to vote in a new way many are visiting the city hall every day to examine the machine on exhibition there and to operate the miniature toy voting-machine which has been set up on the south side of the corridor. The method is a very simple one when it is understood but those who do not wish to remain in the booths long on election day, thereby laying themselves open to the suspicion of splitting their tickets, will be wise to study up the instructions before-hand. The toy mechanism gives one a perfect idea of the method of procedure and even rings a little bell when the straight ticket knob is pulled, after the lever has been swung.

HASTENING WORK ON THE FACTORY

OLD FOGY SURPRISED AT PROGRESS AT SUGAR FACTORY.

HE TAKES A GENERAL REVIEW

Cannot See Why Council Should Pass Ordinances and Then Not See Them Enforced.

To the Editor: I walked down towards the new beet sugar factory recently and was really astonished at the size and grandeur of the structure that is rapidly going up. I can remember when the Paul farm was not thought to be worth much, yet within the past few years several factories have been located there or on adjacent property and more are coming. Talking of factories and the rapid growth of Janesville in this direction, I would like to ask how many of our progressive citizens really know how much is being accomplished in this direction? Janesville is rapidly becoming a manufacturing city. Its location on the map probably has much to do with its growth in this direction and the railroads have helped some but I think the true cause is the freedom from labor difficulties. Janesville is a peculiar community of souls, unprejudiced, unpretentious and radical change from former customs are not appreciated as they are in some localities.

Easy Going.
We people of Janesville are too easy going. We live rather in the past than in the present and for the future. There is much wealth in the city but those who have it do not make the spurge they do in many cities half our size. Janesville is not a boom town. It has grown slowly and steadily and its growth has brought prosperity to many. There are really less poor people than in almost any other city in the country. Some way or other we manage to take care of ourselves pretty well and let the world run itself as it pleases. I do not mean by this we are not looking out for our interests but the young men who stay at home are content to do as their fathers did before them and grow up to take their father's business and their father's ideas. In the outer world, the busy city world, Janesville is well represented. In almost every calling in life former Janesville men have risen to prominence and are spoken of as rising men.

Need a Change.
We need a change. We need a stirring up. Two years ago the business men of the city rose in their might and a municipal ticket was placed in the field that wiped out the then existing council and city administration. It was a hip, hip, hurrah time and lasted for less than a year. Then the business men sat down again and the old element went back to run city affairs as they had in the past. During the past spring and summer the police question and the possible reformation of this important department came up many times for consideration. Aldermen discussed it, aldermen drew up orders to increase the force and then tore them up and matters went along in the same way they have in the past. At one time there was an epidemic of petty burglaries but these have stopped for the time being, more through the publicity given them in the newspapers I think than because of work of the police.

Many Ordinances.
The common council passes many ordinances in the course of a year. Some of them are wise ones, some of them very unimportant. They are placed on the books and remain there. Dead letters in fact, dead letters in truth. Why, if the council sees fit to pass ordinances does it not see that the police enforce them? Take for example the announcement published some time ago by Acting Chief Brown, that all bicyclists riding on the sidewalks would be prosecuted. Has anyone been arrested for so doing? Has anyone stopped riding on the walk when they feel like it? Is there any use in having this ordinance on the city books or of the police talking about prosecuting anyone who breaks it? Not in the least and this ordinance is only one of the many that are daily violated. Where are all the fire escapes ordered for the opera house, the city hall and other buildings about town? When the Troquois theatre burned in Chicago there was a great hue and cry over the safety of public buildings and orders were passed that all buildings declared in need of better fire protection should have the same. The committee made its report of investigation but did not tell all they found, this I know to be a fact. Orders were passed and then the matter dropped. Dropped never to be brought up again because the public forgot the existence of it and will only remember it when there is an appalling loss of life from some of the fire traps in the city burning down when full of people.

But the Fall Comes.
Autumn is coming. I should rather say here. The work on the big ditch which will inaugurate our city sewage system is soon to be begun. At last an improvement is to be started that has been needed the past fifteen years. The Court street bridge is to be finished and then next spring the work of improving the streets will be ready to be begun. "OLD FOGY."

Postal Defects and Complications.
If the personal equation can be gotten rid of in postal investigations and the time-light turned on some of its fundamental defects, the recent upheaval will not have been in vain. The SENTRY sees much complaint in the newspapers at the failure of congress during its late session to establish the Post Check Currency system. This measure has been strongly endorsed by numerous commercial bodies; has been petitioned for by thousands of business men and has the practically unanimous support of the press of the country without distinction of party. It was approved by the House Post Office Committee of the previous congress, but no legislative progress was made during the session just closed, largely because the postal scandals monopolized attention.

The money order system is confessedly crude and complicated—faults which the Post Check would promptly cure. There are numerous other glaring defects almost equally important, which it would remedy. The river that is a mile wide and only ten inches deep may lubricate many reefs and boulders, but will nourish few humbling marts of trade. A public function which is filled with contradictions and complexities will flourish chiefly as a breeding place for scandals and a field for efforts at reform.

Such is the postal service of the present day. A reminder of one of its inconveniences is found in some recent complaints in regard to the special delivery stamp. That stamp it is said, does not guarantee any special protection for the letter to which it is affixed, neither does it secure added attention for the letter at the forwarding office, although it implies prompt delivery at the final destination.

People are unduly confused in regard to the functions of this system. There is a prevailing notion that a letter bearing the special delivery stamp has as much protection as a registered letter. As a consequence, many people send money and valuables by this means and thus merely advertise to dishonest postal employees the fact that something of value is enclosed in the package. The result is that an unduly large proportion of special delivery mail is lost in transmission. Such mail is often detained and examined by those who are inclined to pilfering among the clerks or carriers who handle it, and often the money or valuables enclosed are promptly confiscated. This occurs because the senders fail to understand the purpose of the stamp, or because the department fails to logically carry out the benefits which the special delivery system is supposed to confer.

All this, while confirming the demand for greater simplicity and efficiency throughout the service, also emphasizes the necessity for the Post Check Currency. That reform would offer a perfectly safe means of paying debts due at a distance from the sender, because, since the Post Check is payable only to the person named therein, no one else could cash it; hence no one would care to steal it.

If the Post Check were in common use, much of the necessity for registering letters would be obviated and consequently much of the confusion which exists between the registry and special delivery systems would be avoided. There are innumerable postal reforms which could be inaugurated, but the SENTRY does not know of a single proposition which would work so many of these reforms in actual practice, as would the proposed Post Check Currency.

ple put both stamps on, but derive little benefit therefrom. Registry is a great protection as to safety. But as we have shown, so much protection would not be needed if the Post Check were in use.

Special delivery stamps increase the risk as they call attention to the importance and possible value of the letter or parcel. A revision of the laws and rules that would bring these confused, antagonistic features into harmony, and the adoption of the simple device suggested which would lessen the need of both, would be long steps in the right direction.

GOES TO GOTHAM AS AN ACTRESS

Fola La Follette Decides for Herself, Despite Her Father's Disapproval.

Fola La Follette, Governor La Follette's oldest daughter, has decided for herself. Despite her father's recent tirade upon the corruption of stage life she will become an actress. The young lady has considerable of her father's spirit in her and will imitate his rule or rule policy by going to New York and becoming a professional actress. Miss La Follette is well-known in Janesville where she has many friends. Two years ago she made her debut here with Walton Pyre in "The Russian Honeycomb" and again this last summer she was here with the same company, playing a repertoire of plays. Miss La Follette having the title roles. She is a graduate of the state university, graduating last June. She has taken important parts in the dramatic productions of the University Dramatic association's plays and has studied for the stage for several years. She is a charming, pretty girl with force and vim and should make a decided success upon the boards. She has had several fine offers from eastern managers but preferred to look the field in New York over before closing with any. Miss La Follette left for New York this morning.

There is probably no man connected with the university who was more thoroughly in touch with the students than John Hickey. He knew everyone, had a pleasant smile for everyone and his place at the gymnasium can never be quite filled.

FISH STORY OF A FISHY NATURE

Janesville and Chicago Men Have Remarkable Tales To Tell—Both Brothers Too.

Two brothers, one from Chicago, the other from Janesville, met at Geneva Lake this summer for an outing. Both were fishermen and the funny thing soon discovered that "Yellow Kids," "Delavan Spoons," and artificial minnows were as plentiful as grasshoppers and much more enticing.

The Janesville man told a story about a pickerel that broke the hook and then flopped into the boat to be so-called. The only proof, offered was the fish, but as there were no witnesses to the transaction the yarn was considered extremely fishy. The Chicago man was a good deal of a sport himself and he proposed to have a fish as well as a story of his own and to take back to the city. He succeeded in getting both. The two men were trolling in rough water one evening when the Chicago man said: "Hold on, I've struck a snag." The snag, yielded, when the speon came in sight. A green and pickerel, hooked in the back and stolen from the bottom, came to the surface.

He carried the fish to Chicago the next day, and when he told the story his friends called him the most cheerful liar in seven states. If you have never fished in Geneva Lake these stories may seem a little startling, but the regular fisherman is never surprised at anything; but a little.

Philippine Band To Give Concerts on Monday and Tuesday—Many Going From Here.

Dan Patch, horse with a record of 1:56 1/4 for a mile, was the most important arrival at the state fair grounds in Milwaukee yesterday. Like the king he is, for he is the unrivaled champion of the pacing horse brigade, he arrived at the grounds in his private car, and despite the urgent requests of the ever present photographer, he declined to remove his blankets, that he might sit for his portrait. Pictures of Dan are valuable, and it requires a copyright and a few other things to make them. Dan was accompanied by his faithful companion, Cobwebs, the beautiful little sorrel runner which paces him on his speedy trips against the watch. The two will go together in Milwaukee, at the fair grounds, next Wednesday afternoon. They came to Milwaukee direct from Lincoln, Neb., where Dan added another to his long list of laurels, for there he paced a half mile in a fraction slower than 2:05, which is the record in Nebraska for a half mile track, and as the last half was done in 1:01 1/2, it shows not only that the Lincoln track is fast but that Dan has his speed with him, which is what is wanted on the big track at Milwaukee. Crescens, the king of the trotting brigade, went the Lincoln track in 2:08.

Will Be Races of All Kinds.
There is to be speed of all kinds at the fair, for apart from the trotters, pacers and runners there is to be a day devoted to automobiles, bicycles and motorcycles. The automobile races are not to be races of man killers by engines as big as a locomotive, but they will settle the superiority with regard to Wisconsin machines, and machines weighing less than 1,500 pounds will race five miles and the heavier ones will go ten miles. The Jonas and Odenbrett people have entered two each, Iphig and Casper, George Crane and the Mitchell people of Racine have each one machine in, and the entries are not closed. The motorcycle men will go five and ten miles, and numerous entries have been made, while there will be four bicycle races, a two and a five mile handicap. The racing men are taking a great interest in them. All these events will be pulled off on the grounds on Friday, Milwaukee day. They are in charge of a committee consisting of F. J. Huennkens, August Mueller, and Max Zimmerman.

Monday Will Be Great Day.
The great day of the fair, however, is to be Monday, when the Philippine band will be present and will watch a number of the boys who fought to subdue them, and a number of others engage in a sham battle. The band comes to Milwaukee by special train Monday morning, and will play on the fair grounds in the afternoon and evening. There are eighty musicians in the organization. As a musical organization it is said to be unrivaled, having the favorable criticism of even no good a judge as Sousa. Machinery, grains, fruits and many other exhibits for the fair have begun to arrive, but the live stock, according to the telegrams, is due to come in here today and Sunday. Everything is ready, and every animal can be housed within a few minutes of its arrival, so that while great activity is anticipated at the grounds, there is no expectation of delay in any way, and Grant Fisher says there is no doubt about the fair being ready on Monday for all the people who can crowd in the grounds. The rain of yesterday made practically no difference, except that it caused some delay on the part of the horsemen, who were unable to use the track for a few hours until the wind and breeze dried off the surface.

RUNAWAY BOX CAR JUMPS TRACK ON RIVER STREET

Workman Attempted to Move it a Few Yards on a Heavy Grade and Trouble Followed.

At the coal yards of J. F. Spoon & Co. yesterday a workman, oblivious of the heavy grade, attempted to move a car loaded with coal a few yards down the track without making any provisions for stopping it, once it should be underway. The car moved slowly at first but rapid motion was gradually acquired and before the astonished onlookers it was tearing through the Joffis yard. He wanted only to see it leave the track at River street and then fled. The man was a stranger and was engaged to work yesterday.

Letter to Mr. Thos. Clark, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: There are these five ways of badness in paint:

- (1) stuffed out with chalk, or something like that;
- (2) barytes, better than chalk, but no covering to it; nobody knows it's there;
- (3) benzine, in the oil, or water, or other such stuff;
- (4) too thin—too much liquid, whatever it is, for the solid;
- (5) short measure.

Now will you buy by the price per gallon?

We furnish our agents with a state chemist's certificate of analysis that tells what's in Devoe.

Yours truly

AUNT LAURA GOES HER LAST HEAT

Famous Janesville Racer Drags Dead In the Evansville Races Yesterday.

Aunt Laura, the famous racing mare formerly owned by John Fisher of this city and recently purchased by L. C. Brewer, has gone her last heat. The plucky old campaigner was entered in the 2:16 pace at Evansville yesterday. Three heats had been run and in the fourth the game old mare was coming along well when at the three quarters pole she slipped, snarled, hauled her and she pitched headlong to the track, throwing her driver out of the sulky. Aunt Laura's racing days were over. She died in the harness racing. The driver received no injury but the mare was dead. This is the second racer who has been so injured that it was necessary to kill it on this same track during the past week. The fair itself was the most successful ever held. In point of attendance and in line of exhibits it was most excellent. The following is the record for the races yesterday:

2:50 trot—Alice, won; Donard, second; Christie, third; Storm McGregg, fourth. Time—1:16.

2:16 pace—Col. Diston, won; Roy Gilbert, second; Catzell, third.

SMALL BOY MEETS THE DEVIL WAGON

Nine-Year Old Lawrence Griffin Run Down Near Grand Hotel Last Night—Not Badly Hurt.

Nine-year-old Lawrence Griffin, while playing in the street near the Grand hotel last evening was run down by a large sixteen-horse power Rambler automobile guided by R. H. Hull, a member of a Madison automobile agency who was on his way to that city from Kenosha. The boy was at once removed to the office of Drs. Fitch and Decker where it was found he was more frightened than hurt. There was a cut on the left side of the head just above the ear and a few bruises on the limbs where the wheels of the machine had left their impress.

MRS. PAUL COLVIN WAS ATTACKED BY VICIOUS DOG

While Passing Zeininger Home on Milton Avenue Yesterday.

While walking on Milton avenue yesterday Mrs. Paul Colvin was attacked and bitten by a vicious dog, a Scotch collie belonging to the Misses Zeininger which has borne a bad reputation in the neighborhood for some time. Her clothes were badly torn by the brute before she succeeded in getting away from him. Officer Brown to whom the matter was reported stated that complaints from a number of persons who had been frightened by the animal had been received of late.

BIG RECEPTION HONORED JENSEN

The Democratic Candidate for State Treasurer Is Met at Depot by Brass Band.

Andrew Jensen of Edgerton, the democratic nominee for state treasurer, returned to his home from the Oshkosh convention yesterday morning. He was met at the depot by a large delegation of citizens and a brass band and escorted through the business section of the city. When the procession reached his place of business Mr. Jensen made a short address to his friends and neighbors. He discussed briefly the political situation and proffered a glorious victory for the democratic ticket in Wisconsin. The demonstration was conducted by citizens of Edgerton, regardless of party affiliations and was more a tribute to Mr. Jensen than to the democratic party. Mr. Jensen's name has been mentioned for state senator to oppose Senator Whitehead but he is now out of this race.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, September 3, 1864.—Members of the 13th Captured—We learn from a gentleman who just arrived in the city from the southwest that 5 members of the 13th regiment—Smith, Gibbs, Clayton, Nash, Blockner and one other—who crossed the Tennessee on some errand, were robbed by about ten days ago by guerrillas, and carried off. They had been heard from since their capture and were all well.

A Bad Fall.—As Mrs. H. M. King was passing along Main, just north of Milwaukee street, yesterday afternoon, she slipped on the skin of an apple or a plum which had been carelessly thrown upon the walk, and fell with considerable force, jarring her quite severely. The practice of throwing the parings of fruit upon the sidewalks is a dangerous one, and many a person has received a life-long injury from a fall received from stepping upon one of them. Besides it renders the municipal authorities liable in many instances to heavy damages, so received.

Let Us Open the Campaign.—The citizens of Janesville friendly to the administration are requested to meet at the court rooms on Monday night, Sept. 5th, to take measures for a vigorous campaign against the rebel.

County Convention of the Democrats.—The democracy of Rock county assembled in convention at the court house in this city this afternoon, to go through the fare of putting in nomination a ticket for county officers. Judge Parker, of this city, was called to the chair, and A. D. Wickham elected secretary. The following persons were nominated for the several offices:

Sheriff—H. W. Cator, town of Janesville.
Register of Deeds—J. A. Mount, city of Janesville.
Treasurer—Levi Clarke, town of Beloit.
Clerk Board of Supervisors—J. A. Chapman, city of Beloit.
Clerk of Court—A. W. Cole, Fulton.

District Attorney—John Winans, Surveyor—Robert Patten, Coroner—Stephen Martin, of Hamony.
Senator—John Hackett, of Beloit.

Coming Attractions.

In E. J. Carpenter's "A Little Outcast" scenic transformations succeed each other with astonishing beauty and such things happen as science would stand agape at were it not aware of the might of electrical batteries and human imagination.

Miss Mabel Shaw late of "Little Princess Co." has been engaged for "A Little Outcast" Co., and will be seen here this coming season.

Heart interest, realism in stage settings and effects, dramatic climaxes, all these are the features of E.

FROM "A LITTLE OUTCAST"

J. Carpenter's "A Little Outcast," which comes here soon, with Little Dolly Dupree as "Bob." This production has been the favorite for two seasons and starts out its third season with a new act, new characters and novel effects.

No announcement concerning the bookings of the local theatre has at-

This season Mr. John C. Fisher in exclusive control of the tuncful creation and presenting it on a scale of perfection which has not hitherto been attempted aside from the original production. In the big company which Mr. Fisher organized there is James T. Powers, who is without doubt one of the cleverest funmakers in America today. Mr. Powers originated the part in this country which he has for this season, that of "L.I." a Chinaman who has traveled. He played it during the long run at Daly's theatre and those who are looked upon as authority in such matters claim he never did anything quite as well.

Other members of the original cast whom Mr. Fisher was fortunate in securing are Geo. K. Fortescue, Nagle Barry, W. L. Romaine, and such other well known artists as Margaret McKinney, a particular favorite in this section, Mina Ryloph, Josephine Newman, Charles Arling, John Penchey, Fred, W. Huntly and scores of others who have been prominently identified with musical comedy of the best class. This chorus is an unusually large one and considered by Mr. Fisher to be the best voiced organization he has ever been able to secure. A special orchestra has also been provided to insure the best possible interpretation of Sidney Jones music.

In the mounting of "San Toy" Mr. Fisher has quite excelled the efforts he has previously put forth in staging musical comedy, and every player is well aware that Mr. Fisher's reputation in this respect is well established. There is nothing that has been used in previous presentations of "San Toy" which will be put in service this season except the book and music. The very handsome scenic equipment is from the studios of New York's representative artists, Ernest Gros and Henry Hoyt. The two settings are much more elaborate than were the originals, and in the costume Mr. Fisher has followed the same policy that have always made his productions notable as the most richly dressed which any mantracted greater attention than that regarding the forthcoming production of "San Toy," while Mr. John C. Fisher will present here with every requisite which is deemed essential to a perfect representation of this famous Chinese musical comedy. When "San Toy" was first brought out in this country at Daly's theatre, New York city, it scored a success which everybody conceded it was entitled to by virtue of the superior qualities which its music and comedy possessed and likewise for the strength of cast with which it was introduced. The play had a long run at Daly's and met with a large measure of success in other cities where it was offered.

Galvanic Soap

—not the woman—DOES THE WORK

Galvanic Soap is all soap—pure soap and white. Contains no "filler" and goes farther than any other soap because of its purity and scientific construction. It removes the dirt without rubbing and without injury to the clothes or the hands.

Test: Dampen a dirty handkerchief and rub it over well with a cake of Galvanic Soap, lay it on top of a dish of cold water and leave it over night. In the morning the dirt will be in the water around the handkerchief and the handkerchief will rise clean without resort to the washboard.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY
From the report of the Committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by that convention, June 2nd, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected said John C. Spooner, J. V. Quarles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Baensch as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates, elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.
The United States government is ideal in many respects and is doubtless the best government in existence today, but it possesses some elements of weakness which are open to criticism. There is a certain amount of red tape connected with it that in many instances amount to a burlesque.

Some years ago a gentleman had occasion to apply for a widow's pension. Her husband's name had been on the list for years and the widow was entitled to the same annuity. The case was a simple one and any business office would have disposed of it in a week, but the department notified the applicant that the request was placed on file and if no objections were encountered it would be reached in about 18 months. An enterprising congressman was induced to lend a hand, or the widow would probably have been waiting yet.

This is a species of tardiness for which the pension office is not at all excusable.

There is also a large amount of red tape connected with the department of justice, as was evidenced in the case of the man Fay, who recently escaped from the Rock county jail. In any ordinary court of justice the man would have been acquitted or convicted within 30 days of his arrest, but the government suspect is permitted to linger in one jail after another until the slow machinery of government is ready to act.

This is an outrage to the man under arrest, who may be innocent, as well as unfair to the counties who are asked to harbor him.

The people are not getting the service to which they are entitled, and for which they pay, in these two departments, to say the least.

The government is also open to some criticism along the lines of its attitude on some moral questions, or perhaps more properly they might be termed questions of expediency.

Until within the last six months the government printing office has employed 3,000 men to do the work of less than half that number. The department has been in the clutches of organized labor more completely than any private business, and improved machinery and equipment has been barred, because it would throw out of employment a lot of time servers who have long been feeding at the public crib.

The government employee, outside of a limited number, is not an overworked man, and yet he is unionized in almost every department, and craves an eight-hour day. He is the people's servant, and yet encouraged by the people's government to render as little service as possible for the money paid.

It is an old saying, and yet as true today as ever, that the easiest money to spend is the dollar that belongs to the other fellow, and the government is not free from censure along this line. The United States treasury is the custodian of the people's money and every dollar ought to be as closely guarded and as carefully expended as any trust fund in existence, and yet this is not always the case.

The $5,000,000 donated to the St. Louis exposition was called government money but it was the people's money, and when congress made the donation the people were not consulted. It was a liberal sum to pay for education and there could be no other excuse for the gift.

The loan of another sum of about the same amount was also from the public crib, and, both transactions are questionable.

Some years ago the government took hold of the Louisiana Lottery, and drove it out of existence. Everybody said it was a good thing and since then all sorts of gift enterprises have been subjected to the most rigid censorship.

But what about the South Dakota land lottery recently conducted by this same people's government. Only one chance in 44 to win and 100,000 contestants fought as vigorously for one of the 2,400 prizes, and watched the wheel of fortune as eagerly as in the palmist days of the southern gambling resort.

It may be argued that the Rosebud agency was a part of the public domain and that there was no other way for a fair and equitable disposition, but that is the flimsiest kind of an argument.

The agency is in the heart of a fertile and well settled country. The land possessed commercial value, as was evidenced by the fact that the man who drew the first prize was offered $10,000 for his option. This meant $60 an acre for the first quarter section.

The land might all of it have been sold at a fair valuation, and the proceeds covered into the public treasury for the benefit of all the people instead of being parceled out by lot to a few fortunate speculators.

The moral side of the question is also worth considering. If it is legitimate for the government to conduct a lottery, why not for the individual?

It is doubtless true that every republican form of government is largely a creature of politics, and this accounts in a large measure for many short comings and irregularities.

The oleomargarine law was popular in congress, not because it would benefit the people, but because it would influence a few votes in the dairy districts. As a result millions of people have been deprived of a wholesome food product, while the whole country has been taxed a fancy price for butter, and a limited class representing less than five per cent. of the population have been benefited.

There are some reforms in government that the republican party can well inaugurate. One of them is business methods in the transaction of the people's business.

Another is less extravagance and more care in the spending of public funds. The party can also afford to handle the labor question, for that is the most important issue just now before the country. This can be done without injustice to organized labor and in perfect fairness to the great army of unorganized workmen.

The right of every man to work in this free land, is a God-given right, and the right of every employer to conduct his own business, is equally sacred.

This means that the open shop is the only shop where justice is recognized, whether conducted by the government or the individual.

Public officials, whether of high or low degree, are the people's servants, and in the good time coming, when the public conscience becomes more acute, the demands for more wholesome government along many lines will be recognized.

By what authority does the governor of a state remove a state treasurer elected by the people? The laws of Wisconsin are a travesty if that sort of a burlesque is countenanced. If death or crime had removed Mr. Kempf from office the governor doubtless had authority to fill the vacancy, but these contingencies do not exist. The treasurer is very much alive, and his bondsman says that his accounts are correct. There must be an African in the woodpile somewhere.

The Oshtosh convention declared most emphatically against the primary law. The majority of republicans in the state also oppose it, and it is safe to say that the theoretical measure will be defeated in November.

The nomination of Peck for governor was a foregone conclusion. He will not be elected, but he will poll a stronger democratic vote than any other man in the party.

If a $100,000 bond is sufficient for Mr. Partell, a quarter million bond ought to be large enough for Mr. Kempf. It makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored.

If any labor leader ever met with deserved defeat, Donnelly of the butchers' union is the man. His disposition to rule or ruin, is so pronounced that even his associates are disgusted.

Everything is a joke with ex-Governor Peck, and the democratic nomination does not produce despondency. He will be the same genial gentleman after his defeat in November.

There is no occasion for President Roosevelt to make a campaign tour. His attitude on all public questions is thoroughly understood.

The radical element in the democratic party will find a warm welcome in the ranks of the La Folletteites, and S. A. Cook will be the next governor of Wisconsin.

"We are out and you are in. We want you to get out and we want to get in." Is the only issue of the campaign.

Stop Right Where You Are...

You're going to lose money unless you heed sensible advice. How not to lose is absolutely settled in one respect, if you will buy your Dry Goods, Silks, Carpets, and small Notions at the stores where these are sold for cash, and sold only upon legitimate business principles at reasonable prices,—the stores where the profits are not loaded to pay for goods others fail to settle for, the stores which do not smooth the way to get bigger prices by giving you chromos and stamps.

Watch Out for the Little Things..

You are "paying the fiddler" if you are a stamp customer—you'll save double the cost of gifts by trading where the goods are sold on merit only, where quality and low prices are the drawing features instead of gifts handed out after you have bought enough to meet the demands of the dealers' devices.

At these stores they do not use stamps or premiums to induce buying, they use spot cash and long experience in gathering together the very best of everything to sell out to customers at the lowest possible cost. INVITE PASTOR
TO REMAIN HERECentral Methodist Church Would Like Rev. Tippet to Remain in Janesville.

The quarterly conference of the Central M. E. church, in session last evening, extended to their pastor, Rev. J. H. Tippet, a cordial invitation to return and serve the church another year. The action was so unanimous, and the invitation so cordial, that the compliment was thoroughly appreciated by the pastor.

Three Years Ago
Mr. Tippet came to Janesville three years ago. He is a good thinker as well as a good pastor, and his ability is recognized. He possesses qualities of mind and heart that have won for him a warm place in the hearts of the people, and the Central church is fortunate in being able to secure his services for another year.

Have Combined
During his pastorate the two churches have been united with a view to establishing one strong central church, and the coming year will doubtless find the society engaged in building a commodious house of worship. This will probably be located on the west side of the river, and available sites are now being considered by a purchasing committee.

MOVE TO BUILD A
BRICK FACTORYIs Beginning to Assume Definite
Form, and $40,000 Stock Company May Be Organized.

A local concern capitalized at $10,000 may soon undertake the manufacture of sand-lime or cement brick in Janesville. Prospects were discussed at a meeting held in the office of Fisher & Oestreich last evening and valuable information was gleaned from the talks of Arthur McArthur, an engineer for the United States Steel Co., of Elwood, Ind., and an expert brick manufacturer from Fond du Lac. The quality and quantity of the sand here and the moderate price at which it can be secured give the city certain natural advantages for the location of such a factory. The concern contemplated would have a capacity of 18,000 brick a day. It is not anticipated that any difficulty will be experienced in raising the stock if the leading one interested decides to go ahead with the enterprise.

Mrs. Victoria Potter returned from Edgerton yesterday where she was called to bury her only brother, J. B. Goss. Since the death of their mother, which occurred July 1st, Mr. Goss has been making his home with his sister in this city. Several days ago he went to Edgerton, intending to return the first of this week. Saturday evening he was taken ill and a physician called but as he became better his sister was not notified. Monday evening he was able to walk downtown and upon returning wrote a card to his sister, and as he was about to retire, suddenly expired from heart failure. His death was a terrible shock to his sister, and particularly sad as he was her only immediate relative. The sympathy of the entire community is with Mrs. Potter, who is completely prostrated by her great sorrow. J. B. Goss was born in Clinton, Rock county, January 6, 1857. In the spring of '65 he moved with his parents to Edgerton and has since resided there. He had many friends who regret his sudden death. He was tenderly laid to rest by the side of his mother in Fasket cemetery on Thursday afternoon. Rev. Stevens officiating.

DOG CATCHER IS

EYES ON DOGS' FEED.

OFFICER KENYON INSPECTS

Finds No Food for Animals—Sees Them All Fighting—Will Investigate.

Agent S. H. Kenyon of the Humane society has his eyes on the new city pound. He drove out there yesterday to investigate charges that had been made that the dogs captured by City Dog-catcher William Crafah were not being properly cared for as to food and water. Mr. Kenyon found no one at the pound, but a neighbor took him to a window where he could look in the room where ten snapping snarl dogs were confined. Mr. Kenyon says that the dogs were all loose; that he saw no signs of their having any pans for water or any food in sight.

Investigates
Mr. Kenyon then drove to Carle's grocery and learned that Dr. Drafahl purchased meat and stale bread for the dogs there, and in Mr. Carle's mind they had been fed regularly. Others said the same thing. The city ordinance provides that each person whose dog is impounded, shall pay the poundmaster two dollars for his dog and twenty cents for each day that the dog has been in the pound. This money is paid over to the city treasurer and the dog-catcher receives one dollar for his services and also is to receive pay for the care of the dogs during their confinement. This amount is not stipulated but will be paid by the council up to a reasonable amount. Persons who are in touch with the dog-catcher claim that he is caring for the dogs.

Advices Improvements
Mr. Kenyon says that the dog-pound should be divided off into pens or stalls or the dogs should be kept tied up. There is one bulldog in the pound now that might kill other dogs if he gets angry and as it is they are snapping and fighting all the time. He would suggest that four stalls be made and the dogs of different breeds penned up together, with the bulldog alone. Not being able to find the dog-catcher Mr. Kenyon will visit the pound again tonight or tomorrow to more thoroughly investigate and see that the animals have proper attention.

YOUNG MEN IN BUSINESS.

THIS is said to be an age of young men, and so it is. Never before have young men so thoroughly dominated every branch of the commercial world as they do today. There is, of course, a reason for this. It is not only an age of young men but it is an age of specialists. Young men who appreciate what the world holds for them qualify themselves to become specialists in some line of life work and look to the future for their pay. Looking at the successful men of today, one will see men who, when opportunity presented itself, grasped it; more than that, once grasped they HELD ON. Your opportunity may present itself any moment. Are you ready to grasp it and cope successfully with it?

PENMANSHIP—What is more admired and an absolute necessity for a successful business career than a good plain business handwriting. A good style of free muscular movement writing is within the reach of every one who is willing to practice in a systematic way. Genius and a special aptitude for this work are not necessary under the system of movement training in penmanship. Even the very poorest writers at the beginning develop into easy, rapid writers. It matters not how crude your ideas may be regarding writing, or whether you have ever taken an interest in writing before, you can develop wonderfully in this work by paying careful attention and following our instructions.

CHAPTER X.

THE BEGINNING OF THE HAZARD.

SIX bells were striking on the Sutherland as Wolfe and Grafton came out of the cabin. As the sound of the mournful bells rang out through the night the captain of the vessel caught up the slow refrain and the sound was repeated from ship to ship over the dark river. The character of the night had changed slightly. Faint clouds were drifting athwart the starlit heavens, and there were heavy banks to the southward which looked like rain.

"Will you show the signals, Admiral Holmes?" asked Wolfe, as he stepped on deck. "We are all ready, I believe, sir."

"Very well, general," responded the admiral, turning to Capt. Rous and giving him an order. A moment later two lanterns were hoisted, one above the other, at the spanker-gaff end. The signal was immediately repeated throughout the squadron. Shrill whistles rang out as the boatswain's mates of the different ships bawled out hoarse commands. Instantly the soldiers and sailors came swarming to their stations. "Col. Wolfe," said Gen. Wolfe, addressing an officer of the light infantry, who appeared at the head of his men, "after you have mustered your battalion will you explain to them that I have designated them to lead the way in the attack to-night? Choose a forlorn hope of 24 men to scale the heights, sir."

"This an honor indeed, sir, I thank you," answered the young officer, smiling with pleasure. "I myself will lead them."

"I expected as much of you, Captain Grafton," he said, turning to the call and resuming the formal method of public address, "will you see that your flotilla of boats is ready to receive my men?"

"I know it is, sir, but I will look again," answered Grafton. "Capt. Rous, may I take Lieut. Hatfield in my boat to assist me?"

"Certainly," answered Rous, a veteran sailor.

Followed by the delighted officer, Grafton sprang to the gangway and called for his gig. Meanwhile Howe was addressing the light infantry. When he called for volunteers every man responded, and it was difficult to make selection of the required number. Presently, upon Grafton's assurance that all was ready, the men slowly filed down over the side and took their places in the boats. Taking his own boat the captain rowed from ship to ship, finding that all preparations had been made everywhere, and that boats filled with men and manned by stout seamen were already clustered under the lee of the ships where they could be screened from the observance of the French at Cap-Rouge.

By 12 o'clock, midnight, the embarkation had been completed, and as it was nearing the end of the flood the boats slowly put off from the ships and headed for Cap-Rouge, Gen. Monckton being in charge and Wolfe remaining on the Sutherland for the present.

The flotilla approached close enough to Cap-Rouge, thoroughly to awaken the attention of the troops of Beauvaisville, who sprang to their arms in expectation of the threatening attack. But the advance was stopped before they were near enough to engage. After some little maneuvering off the shore, the boats, as if deterred by the promptness of the French soldiery, rowed back to the ships and sheltered themselves under the lee of their broadsides again where they could not be seen. Once there, the men, without going aboard the ships, waited patiently for the turning of the tide.

At four bells in the mid-watch, or two o'clock in the morning of the 13th, Wolfe entered the heavy cutter which Grafton had exchanged for his gig, and gave the signal to shove off. Following the general's boat came the boats of the light infantry, and after them the rest of the flotilla.

It was darker than ever. The sky was filled with light fleecy clouds drifting rapidly across the stars, their wild motion, driven as they were by some upper current of air, only accentuating the stillness on the water. Hugging the opposite shore for a time the boats floated silently down the river with the young ebb. As they appeared to be unnoticed from the camp at Cap-Rouge and as their maneuvers excited no attention, oars were broken out and the boats crossed to the Quebec side, the seamen rowing gently as they passed rapidly down the river.

Presently the boats swept around a huge headland jutting out into the stream. Below the headland lay a little cove. The current shot swiftly about the promontory and swept around the little bay. The boats were carried below the landing-place and it took some hard pulling before their stems touched the shore.

Wolfe had gone forward in the cutter, and the others drawing back to give him passage, he was the first man to set foot upon the muddy shore. It was four o'clock now. They could hear eight bells chiming faintly across the hills. Around them in the shadow it was as still as death—that most silent hour before the day breaks. A gentle breeze had sprung up and was sighing softly through the trees at the top of the cliff; the sky was overcast; they would have lain presently.

YOUNG WIFEHOOD

Boston, Mass., 152 Shawmut Ave., Oct. 25, 1902.
After I had been married about four months I felt my health generally decline. I seemed to lose the light step and dragged wearily along instead. My appetite failed me and I lost health and strength. I was nervous and had shooting pains through my limbs and stomach while bearing down pains and constant sore and more profuse and I was unfit to attend to my daily duties. My husband called in three different physicians and I took enough medicine to kill or cure a dozen women, but it all had no effect on me whatever, until I took Wine of Cardui. In a few days I felt a change for the better, my general health improved and at the next time of my periods my flow was more natural and I was in less pain. Gradually I recovered my health and strength and am now in perfect health. I take an occasional dose of Wine of Cardui which keeps me well.
I am happy to give you this endorsement.

Ruthy Becker
President, Back Bay Woman's Club.

Why don't you try for the same health Mrs. Becker has? It is easy to secure if you take Wine of Cardui according to directions. Wine of Cardui strengthens weak and worn-out women of any age and assists the mother and housewife to bear her exerting duties. Wine of Cardui makes women fit for all the duties of womanhood.

It will relieve the pains of irregularity, cures falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, ovarian troubles, and has been known to remove what physicians considered dangerous tumors. Women who use Wine of Cardui do not suffer at the monthly periods. They do not suffer hysterical attacks, because Wine of Cardui gives them strong nerves freed from the irritation of female suffering.

A $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui purchased from your druggist will keep you free from pain.
